ORGAN RECITAL AT CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH
WEDNESDAY, JULY 21

On Wednesday evening, July 21, at 7:30, Edward H. Hastings will play an organ recital at the West Parish Congregational Church in Bethel. The concert is open to the public without charge.

Mr. Hastings has chosen a varied program including music by Dietrich Buxtehude, Cesar Franck, Arthur Honegger, Charles Marie Vidor, and Johann Sebastian Bach. Among the Bach selections to be played are three chorale preludes and the great Toccata in F with its extended cadenzas for pedal solo.

The recital will conclude with two pieces by Louis Vierne, for many years organist at Notre Dame Cathedral in Paris. One of these selections, "Clair de Lune," is dedicated to Mr. Hastings' uncle Ernest M. Skinner, the noted organ builder whose instruments in Yale's Woolsey Hall, the Cathedral of St. John the Divine, and the Washington Cathedral are world famous. A frequent visitor to Bethel where he was married in 1893, Mr. Skinner is buried in Woodland Cemetery.

Edward Hastings, known to Bethel residents as "Ned," has spent part of almost every one of his summers in the home his great-grandfather built on Broad Street. A graduate of Wesleyan and Harvard Universities, he has pursued a double career as professor of English and organist and choir director. For the past 18 years he has taught at Curry College, Milton, Mass., serving for the past five years as Dean of the College. This spring he completed his 10th year as organist and choirmaster of the First Parish in Milton (Unitarian).

Every few years, with a high degree of regularity, the subject of solid waste disposal at the dump or landfill that serves Bethel, Newry and Hanover, rises to a level of concern and discussion. After some more decisions are made and perhaps some money is spent, the subject seems to abate temporarily, but is never totally solved. With the growing prognosis that the last open trench at the Bethel landfill will be filled and covered by January or February of 1983, the all too familiar pattern is likely to be repeated. Because promising decisions are unlikely if they await frozen ground and snow conditions at that time of year, efforts are underway now to resolve the question. Simply stated, the issue is where can we choose to dispose of our solid waste once

STATE EDUCATION BOARD
GRANTS CONCEPT APPROVAL
FOR NEW WOODSTOCK SCHOOL

At their meeting on Wednesday, July 14, the State Board of Education granted concept approval for the proposed new elementary school in Woodstock. The proposed school is designed to accommodate 150 pupils in grades K-6, and will include six regular classrooms, one kindergarten, space for special education, a small library, a multi-purpose room, and a serving kitchen. The estimated total cost of the project is $1,125,000, with an initial local assessment of $56,250.
Under the current funding laws for school construction, the balance of the cost for the project will be reimbursed with state funds.

Now that concept approval has been granted by the State Board of Education, a date for a public referendum on the construction project will be established by the S.A.D. 44 Board of Directors. If the public approves the funding for the new elementary school, construction would begin in Spring of 1983, with completion projected for September 1984. In the weeks ahead, details on the school concept and funding will be made available. Citizens of S.A.D. 44 have been asked to share their thoughts on the building project with Board members and administrators in the coming weeks.

— Mrs. Colista Morgan, Corres. —

Several evenings after several days of unusual warmth for this year, we have enjoyed the coolness and the breeze on our lawn. It was so refreshing after the sky for hours had been a vast blue flame.

The mellow light of the evening sun made the pond take on a burnished look, while the wooded slopes that came down to the water and the mountains beyond were brushed with golden serenity of the evening. It was a lovely colorful landscape, flowers blazing in the light of the sinking sun.

The water lapped gently on the shore while mother duck with her babies drifted by and disappeared behind an overhanging tree. A beautiful picture; reflections in the water, the half whisper of the trees, splinters of sunshine through branches.

A lone muskrat crossed the water to our shore then played around before disappearing.

I felt happy that I had not lost the key to old delights and joys that come from simple natural things: mist over meadows, a path of sunlight on water, scent of flowers, moon's path of gold, dawn's soft light; all things for the heart to hold.

A flurry of little swallows pinwheel above the water, fluttering one minute like a handful of confetti, dipping and soaring the next like paper airplanes.

There was a muttering of frogs, pierced now and then by the liquid soprano of a thrush or the drum of a woodpecker, carpenter-

From across the pond on the mountainside came a weird, chilling cry, four measured hooting calls, the last two linked in a throaty sound. An owl I thought.

The next sound that came, there was no question about its identity, a noisy family of ravens.

There was interest in watching the humming birds and the chipmunks but most of all a butterfly which was so busy on the flowers. I have always thought of them as a live-and-let-live creature without belligerence, pugnacity and animosity. I pictured them drifting over summer fields, drinking nectar from the various colored goblets of blossoms or, pumping wings, up and down, slowly, while basking in the sunshine. I can never picture these frail voyagers of the air with hate, rage, and bitterness. Yet, recently I read that their patience has limits and they fight for the same reasons that fish or men fight or stags that lock horns in the forest; for certain territory or for the females.

By 8:30 the mountain was a gray cardboard-cutout in the sky. By 9:00 the light was nearly gone. The sun had lost itself behind a low bank of clouds and the hills.

Now it was a dark moonless sky pricked with stars, air cool and sweet with spicy fragrance — and bed time.

"Here is a world of beauty to enjoy, fragrant with flower scent on evening air. An interval when nothing can destroy. The rural peace that on this night we share."

— Louise Dorsey

This has been a busy week for me; greens to gather and freeze, gardens to weed, and lawns to mow, besides my "going". Then one day I had an urge to carpenter so made a miniature "well" for my lawn. I had no "old oaken bucket" so arranged a few flowers in a pot and hung it beneath the roof.

We went to South Paris to see Carroll Nottage before he left for Texas. I spent the day on Thursday with the T.T. group from West Paris. We had lunch in Lewiston and a social gathering at Avis Stelhorn's in the afternoon. On Tuesday I was surprised and pleased to have my niece Mona Whitman, my grandniece, Princess Murphy, and a friend who came from Texas on Monday, call and have lunch with us. In the afternoon, my nephew, Frankie Britton, and his wife, here on vacation from Texas called to see us.

Dot Curtis, Denise Adams, and son, Joshua, Local, visited Wednesday afternoon.

Toward evening a young man who was in the Navy during the war called just to ask, "Are you Colista Morgan?" and to tell me that he had traveled the world and when he thought he'd never see Maine and home again he'd get comfort from my column and descriptions of the places he knew. He made my day and I was pleased that he stopped by to tell me that I helped him.

Friday, I had an early appointment for my blood test at the hospital. It was grocery day, too. Frank and Dot Curtis called on Carroll Nottage on Wednesday morning. My nieces and nephew also called on them. Their other callers were Phil Bentley, Lewiston; Mildred Bowman, Hebron; Donald Bowman, Canton; Maybel Oldham, Welchville.

Kathy Curtis and mother, Eva Felton, were at Lucy Bragg's for a cook-out on Sunday.

North Paris

— Evelyn B. Vatcher, Corres. —

What a beautiful week we had, and all the farmers that had hay to cut have been busy as bees. I didn't offer any one a bit of help as we had our hands full with the strawberries. We have enjoyed berries in many different ways and they were so good.

Mrs. Rhoda Vatcher has had a visit from her sister, Phoebe Swanlight of Massachusetts, also her son, Kenneth and his two children and a friend, who came for the truck that Kenneth bought from his mother. His friend drove the truck back to Massachusetts for him. Two grandsons, Kevin and Shawn White of Merrimack, Mass. are here for two weeks.

Several attended the Senior Citizens' meeting and pot luck dinner at the Legion Hall in West Paris, on July 6. Alanson Noble was the speaker.

The Community Club held their meeting at the hall on July 7. Joseph Vatcher was elected vice president. Voted to have another supper on July 24, from 5-7 p. m. The same committees will serve as at the last supper, they like to keep in practice, and we do appreciate all the help that we receive from the members and friends.

(Tri-Town Ambulance & Emergency Rescue Service)

July is a busy month for Tri Town Auxiliary. Community Birthday calendars are being sold starting July 17. They are having a food sale at the Littlefield Beaches Yard Sale on July 17. Old Home Days in West Paris are July 30 and 31. Tri Town is putting on a chicken barbecue on Saturday, July 31, at 12 noon in front of the fire station in West Paris for the birthday celebration. It is also manning a booth at the midway Saturday afternoon.

Tri Town continues to operate by the help of the community. They appreciate all the donations given so far. Remember the ambulance service at one of the fundraising activities coming up this month.

The weather has been extremely nice this past week. Yet too much sun combined with too much exercise is not healthy for anyone. Fluids are very beneficial when you are sweating and losing a lot of body fluids. Remember to keep replenishing the supply. Perhaps a better time to mow the lawn is not at the hottest time of the day, noon to 2:00. Why not do the outdoor work later in the evening when the temperature is cooler.

MEN'S SOFTBALL LEAGUE

Standings of the Men's Softball League as of July 12: Rowe Hill, 8-2; Bethel Merchants, 8-2; The Inn, 6-2; Piston-Bulley's, 7-4; Bryant Pond, 5-6; Andover Loggers, 4-7; Bethel Loggers, 4-7; Greenwood, 4-7; Telstar, 3-7; and Bears, 3-8.

The one-pitch tournament held Sunday, July 11, was won by the Bethel Merchants with four wins and no losses. Other teams participating, in order of their finish, were: Telstar, 3-2; Andover Loggers, 3-2; Piston-Bulley's, 2-2; Greenwood, 1-2; Bears, 1-2; Rowe Hill, 0-2; Bryant Pond, 0-2.

MRS. CUMMINGS OBSERVES 80th BIRTHDAY

Fannie Cummings was tendered an "open house" birthday party Saturday p. m., July 10, in honor of her 80th birthday, at the home of her daughter and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Cleve Lovejoy, West Bethel Flat Road. The decorations were in red, white and blue. Her granddaughter, Dorothy West, presented her with a corsage. The lovely cake was furnished by Mr. and Mrs. John Rolfe. Delicious refreshments were served and lots of music enjoyed. Approximately 50 signed the guest book. She received phone calls, gifts and many lovely cards. Everyone had a great time and she will long remember the day.

TRI TOWN TO SELL BIRTHDAY CALENDARS

Tri Town Rescue is beginning its second annual Community Birthday Calendar Sales on Saturday, July 17, and will continue the selling through July 31. The calendars are an excellent way for local people to support the organization—by having all the birthdays listed and the local advertisers listed every day of the year. The 1983 calendars will be distributed in plenty of time for the 1983 calendar year. Everyone who buys the calendar gets six listings, anniversaries or birthdays. Additional listings can be purchased if needed. If no one comes to you, call Chris Hedley, B. P. 375; or Charlotte Beauchamp, 674-2908, to order your calendar.

BETHEL INN & COUNTRY CLUB GOLF/TENNIS HIGHLIGHTS

Under continuing bright sunny skies, good games and good times were enjoyed by members on the Bethel Inn Links and Court. The regular Sunday Scotch-Ball was played with three sets of winners emerging with the identical net scores of 27. Winners were: Carol and Jim Morin, Sue Crane and guest, Bill Ripley, and Ed Wentworth and Charles Hunt.

Ray Ferron has advanced to the finals in the President's Cup. The winner of the pending Dick Raso/Allen Connors' match will set up an exciting final match to determine a winner.

A Mollycoddett Day Tournament will be played Saturday, July 17, starting at 9 A. M. and continuing until 1:30 P. M. This event is open to the public and all are invited to play.

On Sunday, July 18, a Scotch-Ball will be played at 2 p. m. Also starting this week and will be the annual Junior Club Championship play. Information on its progress will be forthcoming.

In tennis, Anne Moran and Sue O'Donnell advanced to the semifinals in the singles matches. Denise Brown advanced to the semifinals in the consolation games.

A THANK YOU

Many, many thanks to everyone who helped in any way to make my 80th birthday an unforgettable occasion. Special thanks to my daughter and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Cleveland Lovejoy.

KAYAKS PREPARING TO START — Shortly after 11 o'clock last Sunday morning the racers in the Kayak Class, above, were preparing to approach the starting line at the Twin Oaks Camping Area in Bethel. The finish line for the 3rd Annual Androscoggin River Canoe Races was at the Madison Motel in Rumford.

The Evans Notch Ranger District recently hosted four volunteers recruited through the Sterling Institute, of Craftsbury Common, Vt., on the Evans Notch Ranger District. From left to right, are Jim Houlihan, Ridgewood, N. J.; Jim Seacord, Roxbury, Conn.; Laura Conniff, South Woodbridge, Conn., and Charlotte Bentz, Allentown, Pa. In the background is South Baldface Mountain.

The young people, graduates of Sterling's one year "Grassroots Project", volunteered to maintain trails from June 7-25. Volunteers were: Charlotte Bentz, Allentown, Pa.; Laura Conniff, South Woodbridge, Conn.; James Houlihan, Ridgewood, N. J., and Jon Seacord, Roxbury, Conn.

While on the Evans Notch Ranger District, the Sterling volunteer crew maintained 28 miles of National Forest trails. The crew also assisted with maintenance of a radio repeater. The crew camped at Basin Pond Campground and was met and transported daily to trails in the vicinity of Evans Notch. Trail maintenance was performed in cooperation with the Orlaham Trails Association and the AMC Cold River Camp. The group received no salary during their stay other than a subsistence allowance to cover food costs. A campsite, and camping equipment were provided by the Forest Service as part of a Volunteer Agreement.

Supervisor Mark Gardner states that the crew performed very well and rated the experience as "a significant benefit for both the Forest Service and the individuals involved". Both District Ranger Mark Boche and Resource Assistant Rick McVey expressed positive thoughts on the crews' contribution. "Volunteers fill a void in completing much needed resource work that would otherwise be delayed or deferred," said Boche. McVey added, "The Sterling Institute crew is just one example of contributions that volunteers can make. Many other volunteer opportunities, both large and small, exist. Over the years, volunteer contributions have made National Forests better for everyone."

Crew members were also positive on their experience. The opportunity to gain practical experience was a primary reason for volunteering. Other reasons were to see and enjoy the White Mountain National Forest, and to contribute something to their fellow citizens, "owners" of the National Forest. All feel their contribution was lasting and valuable and are glad they became volunteers and "would do it again."

Safety Tip of the Week
Because of the extremely hot weather lately, if you notice an added loss of body fluid through perspiration (sweating) don't forget to drink more fluids and take salt tablets to compensate for the fluid loss. Anyone with a medical problem should consult their family physician before taking any medication.

SPORTS AND HUMANITIES SYMPOSIUM SEPT. 30-OCT. 2 AT U. OF M., ORONO

A symposium designed to explore the relationship of sports to humanistic values will be held Sept. 30 to Oct. 2 at the University of Maine at Orono.

The symposium, Sports and Humanities, will be an opportunity for a number of different segments of the public to explore these relationships, according to Dr. William Baker, UMO historian and coordinator of the symposium.

A former college football player and the author of "Sports in Modern America," Baker said the symposium could give the general public an opportunity to consider sports as a reflection of our society, athletic coaches and journalists a chance to reflect on what they are doing, and secondary school teachers to capitalize on their students' interest in sports by using sports themes in teaching.

Many of the speakers who have been invited to participate in the three-day event, including the keynote speaker at the evening session Sept. 30, are former sports figures who have become educators, Baker said. The keynote speaker, who will speak on "Sports and the Humanities: Friends or Foes?," will be Frank Ryan, former pro quarterback in the National Football League and now athletic director at Yale University.

Mark Harris, baseball novelist and author of "Bang the Drum Slowly," will speak at the Friday evening session. Harris, now a member of the English faculty at Arizona State University, will speak on "Our Sporting President: The Play-by-Play Announcer from Iowa Makes Good."

Daytime sessions Friday will discuss sports and human values at 9:30 a.m., and sports, the media and human concerns at 2:30 p.m. Saturday morning's session will be on sports studies in the schools.

The week before the symposium

Unemployment strikes all sections of American society, but the hardest-hit groups can be those who are most deserving of employment.

A case in point is the Vietnam veteran. After giving so much of themselves, Vietnam vets now are facing their highest unemployment since the end of the conflict, with 700,000 currently jobless and hundreds of thousands more underemployed.

A bill I've recently co-sponsored can help to ease this deplorable situation. The legislation, known as the Veterans Employment Assistance Act of 1982 (H.R. 6440), would amend certain provisions of the law to improve monitoring and implementation of job training and placement programs for veterans.

The bill would administer grants to qualified recipients, including state or community agencies and private, non-private organizations, to operate job training, counseling and placement programs and employment service programs. Authorizations for related research, demonstration programs and technical assistance also are included in the bill.

Further, the bill funds through the Department of Labor the highly successful Disabled Veterans Outreach Programs. Past evidence shows that such a program can be of tremendous benefit to the state's veterans. It would provide funding, subject to appropriations, through grants to the states. The funds would be awarded to community-based, non-profit organizations to assist disabled veterans in job counseling, training and employment.

The community-based outlet is seen as the most effective means of meeting the needs of Vietnam-era veterans. Funds would be targeted to areas demonstrating the most need and to sections lacking in traditional services.

Cutting Abuse: The U. S. Department of Agriculture has issued proposed new rules to deal with people who obtain food stamps illegally.

Food stamps began in 1965 with an outlay of $36.6 million. The growth of the program since that time is a perfect example of the runaway federal spending which threatens our economy, as the 1982 federal budget includes $10.3 billion for food stamps.

Food stamps are a genuine need for many of our citizens, but well-publicized abuses in the system have inflated the cost of the program without providing more for those in need. The new regulations are designed to streamline the program without gutting it.

The rules as proposed state that food-stamp users will be denied their stamps for three months for a first offense of illegally obtaining the stamps. Second offenses will exclude the party from using stamps for 12 months and a third offense permanently disqualifies the offender.

The rules provide that the states prove only that a potential recipient used false or misleading statements to obtain the stamps, not that the recipient intended to defraud the government. Entire households would be responsible for repaying any stamp overpayments, and state agencies would be allowed to turn over their accounts to professional collection agencies and to take households to court to obtain repayments. The department will accept comments on the proposed ruling through Aug. 20.

One's intelligence is often measured by how much he keeps his mouth shut.

The Bethel Water District is seeking bids for the installation of approximately 1,000 ft. of 8" D.I. and related work.

Bid information available upon request. Bid opening, 1:00 P.M., Friday, July 30, 1982.

LOGGING SAFETY FILM PREPARED BY U.M.O.'S C.E.S.

In the wake of an escalating number of logging-related injuries and chain saw accidents in Maine and throughout the nation, the University of Maine at Orono's Cooperative Extension Service (CES) has prepared a special film on logging safety.

"Will I See the Springtime Again?" will be featured on WLBT-TV's "Page Two" program Sunday (July 18) at 12 noon on Channel 2. The 20-minute film takes its title from the lyrics of a logging song expressing the fears of woodcutters as they enter the winter logging season.

Written by CES Safety Specialist William Lilley and UMO Radio-TV Specialist Henry Nevison, the film is a cooperative project of the Extension Service, the UMO Public Information Office, and Northern Woods Logging Association of Jackman. It was filmed on location in eastern and northern Maine.

More than just a how-to safety film, "Will I See the Springtime Again?" describes the importance of forestry to Maine and the history of the state's logging industry. It examines the hazards of wood cutting and chain saw use, shows how drastically accidents can affect people's lives, and provides information on safe cutting techniques for tree harvesting.

"We made the film because there are thousands of people getting hurt out there and we wanted to do something about it," says Lilley, who conceived the idea for the film last fall. "Each year one out of three people involved in the logging industry in Maine has an occupationally related injury," Lilley notes, and 50% of these are disabling. Lilley goes on to cite National Safety Council figures that indicate that more than 50,000 chain saw accidents occurred last year in this country.

While the film is aimed primarily at professional loggers, the Cooperative Extension Service has several publications available for the small woodlot owner or the backyard chain saw user. "Our main goal is to make as many people as possible aware of the potential dangers involved in woodcutting and the need for learning safety measures to avoid accidents," says Lilley.

Pamphlets, information sheets, and loan videotape copies of "Will I See the Springtime Again?" are available through county Cooperative Extension Service offices in Maine.

Walking With Jesus Christ

Bible folk — Christians.
"O Lord, you are my God; I will exult you and praise your name, for in perfect faithfulness you have done marvelous things, things planned long ago."

In his hands are the depths of the earth, and the mountain peaks belong to him. The sea is his, for he made it, and his hands formed the dry land.

"The Lord declares: As the heavens are higher than the earth, so are my ways higher than yours, and my thoughts higher than your thoughts. As the rain and the snow come down from heaven, and do not return to it without watering the earth and making it bud and flourish, so that it yields seed for the sower and bread for the eater, so does my word that goes out from my mouth: It will not return empty, but will accomplish what I desire and achieve the purpose for which I sent it."

"You will go out in joy and be led forth in peace; the mountains and hills will burst into song before you, and all the trees in the fields will clap their hands."

"Then I heard what sounded like a great multitude, like the roar of rushing waters and like loud peals of thunder, shouting: Hallelujah! For our Lord God Almighty reigns. Let us rejoice and be glad and give him glory! For the wedding of the Lamb has come, and his bride has made herself ready. Fine linen, bright and clean, was given her to wear."

The Bible says so! "Do you not know that the saints will judge the world?" "Do you not know that we will judge angels?" I Cor. 6: 2, 3.

AUCHMOODY SPEAKS AT WOODSTOCK HISTORICAL SOC.

At the last meeting of the Woodstock Historical Society Jack Auchmoody spoke on "Israel: Jesus and the Prophets." His slide presentation was extremely colorful and the commentary very informative. For example, the slides that "spin not" were probably red. There is a spot on the Sea of Galilee where Christ could indeed have spoken to 5,000 people and been heard perfectly. Society members were regaled with such intriguing information. The talk was enjoyed by all.

During the regular meeting Ruby Emery gave a historical presentation on the origins of the various organizations in Woodstock. A request for information from the Historical Resources Survey was referred to the Research Committee. Volunteers came forward to help keep the museum open Saturdays. And, finally, a quilt exhibit is planned by the Society for the same day as the Library Sale. Donations were received from Helen Lappin, Eva Mills, Earle Noyes, Mrs. Glenn Brooks, and Mrs. Elsie Bryant. They were all of excellent quality: substantial additions to Society displays.

4-H MEMBERS AND LEADERS FROM NORTH CAROLINA VISIT OXFORD COUNTY

Eighteen 4-H members and leaders from Stokes County, North Carolina, visited Oxford County 4-H members and their families last week. The group arrived on Tuesday, July 6, in two vans at the Oxford County Fairgrounds. After meeting their hosts, everyone dispersed for their respective homes for the night. Wednesday morning the group toured the Telstar Satellite Tracking Station and visited Bryant Pond to try the crank phones. Thursday, everyone went to Poplar Beach and L. L. Bean's in Freeport. Tired and sunburned, they all stopped for a Maine sea food dinner on the way home. For some of the North Carolinians, this was their first taste of lobster. Families spent Friday showing the guests their favorite spots. The stay was topped off with a barbecue at Leland and Dale Jack's in Buckfield. Sad farewells were said Sunday morning as the guests packed their vans to head south. Friendships made in the six days were close. Maine 4-H'ers are already planning ways to raise money for their visit to Stokes County!

All is well at K-D's Acres. Everyone seems to be enjoying the summer. Our family helped the Barton family with haying. Dave is busy with his job at Songo Pond. Dan has odd jobs in the neighborhood. Doug has spent two weeks with his grandparents and aunts in Bryant Pond. Dick is now on a week's vacation, and we're trying to catch up on gardening and cutting firewood.

Visitors here have been Jeff Hooker, Pam, and Darlene Barton. Kevin Conley was a supper guest Friday night. Saturday evening Dick and I, Franklin and Margaret Barton, Billy and Yvonne Robinson, and Marguerite and Jim Conley attended the dance in Oxford.

Last evening (July 12) Chris and Elton Cole and girls brought Doug home and had supper with us.

There will be another delicious supper next week, July 23, at 5:30 at the Albany Church Vestry. Come join us.

Have a beautiful week.

This week has been typical July weather at last. The corn jumped right into the air as did some of the other plants. Now we have better weather. I heard in some places they are just finishing planting because the ground had been so wet. I hope their season is longer than ours or they just might be disappointed.

VA HOME LOAN APPLICANTS —SUBJECT TO INDEBTEDNESS REVIEW

As a portion of the current effort on the part of all federal agencies to recover outstanding debts to the United States Government, the Veterans Administration checks all home loan applications to identify existing indebtedness.

Such debts may arise from various forms of overpayments or from an earlier defaulted home loan account.

Prior to disapproval of a home loan application, the debtor is given an opportunity to eliminate the debt at once by repayment, or to arrange for repayment over a period of time.

The size of the indebtedness and other credit issues are contributing factors in the decision regarding the approval or disapproval of any loan application.

BOISE CASCADE FIGHTS MAINE BUDWORM DAMAGE WITH 74,500 NEW TREES

Boise Cascade of Rumford has begun its largest reforestation program in Maine in half a century. The program is currently underway on a 250-acre location east of Farmachenee Lake in Lynchtown in northern Oxford County. The company will plant 74,500 seedlings in this area which was salvage clearcut in 1981 after being heavily damaged by spruce budworm.

Normally, clearcut areas in Maine have high natural regeneration; that is, trees grow back very quickly and at the rate of thousands per acre. In this case, it became quickly apparent to Boise Cascade foresters that no natural regeneration was taking place. Previous prolonged spruce budworm infestations have reduced cone and seed production for natural regeneration to take place. Plans were made to plant the area before raspberries and weeds took over the location.

Among the species being planted are Japanese larch, European larch, Eastern larch, black spruce and white spruce. These species are somewhat more resistant to spruce budworm and are fast growing.

Boise Cascade foresters have been involved in many tree plantings on company land during the years 1955 through 1974. These plantations were established on old fields and abandoned farm land obtained by the Company when the woodland was purchased, to make them more productive. These plantations involve some 48 different sites on which about 97,753 trees have been planted. Tree specimens have varied to include Red and White Pine, Japanese and Evergreen Larch, Norway and White Spruce, Austrian Pine, Balsam Fir, hybrid poplar and Evergreen Black Alder.

The current planting is being done on a contract basis by Canaan Hill Enterprises, Canaan, Vt. The trees are being hand planted at the rate of 485 trees per acre. The planting technique is to make a slit in the ground with a pointed spade. The roots of the seedling are carefully placed in the hole, which is then kicked shut. Great care is taken to make sure the tree is firmly in the ground and that there are no air pockets or exposed roots to dry out.

Sample plots are being established to check the quality of the

CENSUS BUREAU TO TAKE EMPLOYMENT SURVEY HERE

Local representatives of the Bureau of the Census will conduct a survey of employment in this area during the work week of July 19-24, 1982, Arthur G. Dukakis, Director of the Bureau's Regional Office in Boston, has announced.

The survey is conducted for the U. S. Department of Labor in a scientifically designed sample of approximately 71,000 households throughout the United States. Employment and unemployment statistics based on results of this survey are used to provide a continuing measure of the economic health of the Nation.

For example, in May, the survey indicated that of the 110.7 million men and women in the civilian labor force, 100.1 million were employed. The Nation's unemployment rate was 9.5%, about the same as the 9.4% in April.

Information supplied by individuals participating in the survey is kept strictly confidential by law and the results are used only to compile statistical totals.

planting process. These plots will also be used to check the rate of tree mortality in future years.

Boise Cascade foresters believe that the continued spruce budworm infestation makes reforestation a possible annual project for the immediate future.

The first reforestation on company lands took place in 1928. That year, the first hybrid poplar plantations in the United States were established in Oxford County (in Mexico and Roxbury) with stocks developed by Oxford Paper Company. The hybrids are still being planted in the United States and Canada.
